We met at Sinai

Rabbi Splansky, Senior Rabbi of Holy Blossom Temple loves to tell the story about the time she taught a class for kindergarteners in her temple. She asked the kids if they knew what happened at Mount Sinai, immediately one child jumped up and said: "I was born at Mount Sinai!"

This child couldn't realize how profound his answer was. Yes, while he was indeed born in Mount Sinai Hospital in NY, all of us, the entire Jewish people were born- as a people- at the bottom of Mount Sinai, in that exact moment that God gave us the Torah.

There are many unanswered questions about what exactly happened at Mount Sinai, or even if Mount Sinai is a real geographical location (vs a metaphor.) The Torah itself has a few, at times even contradicting accounts, not only as to the name of the mountain/desert but also to what exactly happened at Sinai. You might recall the two different versions of the Ten Commandments and the discrepancy in the fourth commandment...are we supposed to "keep" (Shamor) Shabbat or just to "remember" (Zachor) it?

The Torah is not clear about what do we mean when we call Shavuot "Z'man matan Torateinu" the holiday of receiving Torah... Did we receive the entire Torah on the mountain, or did we just receive what is known as the Ten Commandments? And if indeed it was the entire Torah, was it just the written Torah or was it (as later generation rabbis claim) the oral Torah as well?

These are all great questions and a source for debate and discussions our rabbis have had over 3000 years (and will probably have for eternity.) And given, that we will probably never have absolute answers to these questions, I want to suggest that we should concentrate not on the actual story of receiving the Torah, but rather on the idea of revelation. On the message received in this sacred moment we call Mount Sinai.

According to the dictionary the word revelation refers to : "The divine or supernatural disclosure to humans of something relating to human existence or the world." I hope we can all agree that the Torah is divine. Most reform theologians do not necessarily believe it was given to us directly by God (as the Torah describes) but rather, that Torah was written with divine inspiration. That it is divine because its sacred message could have only been inspired by a divine author. It is divine because within it are guidelines of how to live our lives that are as relevant today as they were 3000 years ago, it is a divine text for it shaped the world as we know it. For it is one of the oldest texts known to humanity that has been preserved and used continuously throughout history. This text not only served as the bedrock for Christianity and Islam, but it also had an effect on all humanity, and - it is at the core of who we are as a people (yes, I don't think we would survive only on the notion that we all like bagels with cream cheese and lox!)

What does the word revelation mean to you? And is this concept relevant to how you live your life?

As you can well imagine, the concept of revelation is a crucial topic occupying theologians and philosophers in ancient, rabbinic, medieval, and modern times. Understanding revelation demands of us to ask questions of authority and chronology. Does truth come only from God, or can it also come from the community or a principled individual? Does God's ultimate revelation of truth take place every day, or did God deliver one authoritative message long ago?

For Emil Fackenheim, a post holocaust theologian – revelation represents the end of the beginning of idolatry, and the ability of humans to then move away from the question of –“Do I believe in many Gods versus do I believe in one God?” – to the importance of belief at all and our need to understand belief especially with post 20th-century experiences of near-death in the Holocaust and rebirth in the establishment of the State of Israel .

For many others the main message of revelation is that it opens a door for each one of us to understand and interpret Judaism in a different way. The fact that we are told that “we were all there at Sinai” means that we, each and every one of us, who is unique and different than our neighbor, has the ability to understand the teachings of Torah differently, and so they believe that God's will is revealed through the interaction of humanity and God throughout history, and in that sense, Torah is a product of an ongoing revelation.

This is especially true for those Rabbis who founded Reform Judaism. For them “Sinai” takes place every time a Jew makes a serious and conscientious choice. They established the notion of “personal autonomy” which basically states that whenever we are to make a moral decision, we can do so on our own, as long as we understand the obligation to be well educated and take into consideration past Jewish teachings as well as Jewish tradition. Under these conditions, the decision made is sacred and is considered an act of revelation.

There are many other fascinating ways to understand revelation, from a notion of revelation being something that happens only in the presence of community to the founder of the reconstruction movement, Mordechai Kaplan who rejected the notion of a supernatural God in its entirety, or him, God was not a heavenly being but rather “...the process [in the world] that makes for creativity, integration, love and justice.”

What matters to me most, as we approach the holiday of Shavuot, is that we all take the time to try and answer this question for us, in the most personal and intimate way.

What do we believe about the Torah? How did we receive it? What is its main message to us? What freedoms do we have in interpreting the message?

I wish us all a Chag Sameach, a holiday of thoughtfulness, reflection, study, and inspiration in which we all take one step forward and deeper in our level of engagement with Torah. After all, this past year we wrote a Torah, now it's time to, as the famous Rabbi Ben Bag says: “Turn it over, and [again] turn it over, for all is therein. And look into it; and become gray and old therein; and do not move away from it, for you have no better portion than it.”

Update from Morli Josza, Executive Director

Dear TJ Family,

We appreciate your membership at Temple Judea! And as we enter our new fiscal year on June 1, 2024, we are excited to invite you to participate in our upcoming “Year of Spirituality”. We have planned a year filled with unique learning opportunities with all our clergy, soulful worship services, and exciting scholars in residence. We are also excited to hold Cantor Abbie’s second concert and are working on securing a date as soon as possible. A magazine with all our offerings will be sent to your home in late June. Be on the lookout!

A REQUEST – please and thank you!

Please refrain from bringing ANY food or beverages (even water) into the sanctuary.

Unfortunately, we have started to have issues with members bringing, spilling, and leaving used napkins, cups, and other items in the sanctuary. We kindly ask if you need to get a drink during services to use the new water fountain at the end of the hallway. Also, if you are worshipping with small children, kindly exit the sanctuary to give them a snack. Our custodian does not regularly vacuum the pews as it provides more wear and tear, and crumbs also attract unwanted worshippers.

Sisterhood:

Anyone who was a member of Sisterhood last year was automatically renewed for this fiscal year. In the event you were a member of Sisterhood in 2023/2024 and no longer wish to continue, simply call the office.

All ladies in the congregation who were not Sisterhood members in 2023/2024 will receive an application in the mail. We highly encourage you to join our Sisterhood which already has 150+ members. After August, all Sisterhood events will be member only to ensure we can accommodate the ladies that elected to participate. If you did not get the application in the mail, and would like to join Sisterhood, please call the office and ask for Pat Sensat or email Pat at pat@gotj.org.

We are here all summer.... Please email or call if you need anything and we look forward to seeing you at Temple Judea soon.

Have a great summer.

Respectfully,

Morli

Especially on election night, but certainly throughout this election year, the whole country will be focusing on our beloved Florida. As a Temple Judea family, we might not all agree on every political issue or candidate, but we can all agree on the inherent importance of political participation. As Jews in America today, we are so blessed to be able to vote and have a voice in the leadership of our country. Our tradition teaches us that we must encourage our community members to pray for our leaders. In Pirkei Avot we are reminded, “Rabbi Hanina, the vice-high priest said: pray for the welfare of the government for were it not for the fear it inspires, every man would swallow his neighbor alive.” Our tradition urges us not only to pray for our leaders, but also to gratefully participate in the act of choosing them- as Jews, we honor the privilege of democracy by participating in it. As the prophet Jeremiah teaches us, we are to engage deeply in our communities and to “seek the welfare of the city to which I have exiled you and pray to God on its behalf; for in its prosperity you shall prosper.” In fact, our rabbis teach that voting is an important religious act that we need to prioritize. The Chazon Ish, a highly respected rabbi in Israel, once counseled a man who didn’t have enough money to pay his taxes; therefore, he would not be allowed to vote in an upcoming election. Hearing the man’s dilemma, the Chazon Ish responded: “You should sell your tefillin and pay the taxes... tefillin, you can borrow from another, but the right to vote you cannot get from someone else.” In fact, Rabbis like Laura Novak Winer consider voting such an essential Jewish act that she urges her congregants to say this blessing before they vote, to sanctify the important and urgent act.

Summer Lunch Series

The Spirituality of Self Care with Rabbi Rose

Breath – June 26 at noon

How does breath show up as an integral part of human beings? How might we express gratitude for something inherent in our existence? What Jewish spiritual technologies are offered?

Movement – July 24 at noon

How might movement be something that enables us to both go deeper and expand? What are the ways in which our lives set us up for this opportunity for healing, and where are we limited? What might dance offer us as a healing practice?

Rest – August 21 at noon

In an ever-going world, what might taking a meaningful rest look like and how might it change our well-being? How might we interact with the idea of a Sabbath as Jewish tradition's spiritual technology? Is a time of rest inherently counter-cultural? Or could it support us holistically in our modern lifestyles and pursuits? How can the essence of Shabbat help us create a "rest practice" in our modern lives?

Lunch is $22 (members); $27.50 (non-members).
Reservations required.

Self, Soul, and Text with Cantor Abbie

A three-part series focusing on exploring Judaism through three lenses: Self, Soul and Text. These three are pillars on which our Jewish identity stands. Each is valuable in our search for God, holiness, and spirituality. This class is a journey to uncover new perspectives of our Jewish practice - culminating the year with a new-found relationship with our self, soul, and Jewish texts. Through prayer, music and collaborative study, we will find renewed meaning and connection to joyous Judaism that inspires action!

Class 1- Self – June 13th at 10:30 a.m.

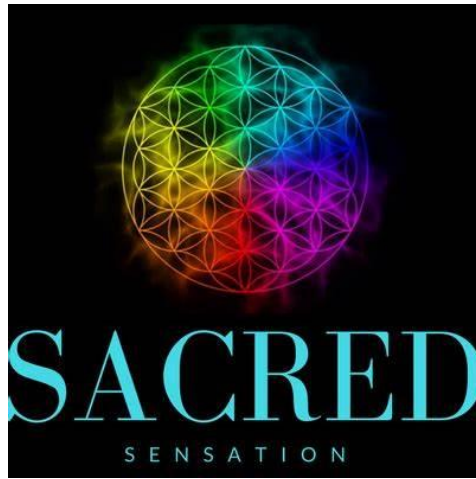

This session will dig deep into the relationship between our values and our Jewish practices. Do our values influence our Jewish practice or does our Judaism influence our values? Through text, prayer, and music we will explore how Judaism can help us nurture ourselves.

Class 2- Soul – July 11th at 10:30 a.m.

The soul is something that we speak about a lot in Judaism. How does our personal relationship with God and our understanding of our Jewish Identity , shape and nurture the soul? Through text study, music, and discussion we will try to answer these eternal questions.

Class 3- Text – August 15th at 10:30 a.m.

How do we make texts our own? How do we assign them personal meaning? In this class we will open up the ideas of texts as doorways into our self and soul. How can texts help us navigate our Jewish lives and make every-day practices holy?

Sacred Sensations: Exploring Jewish Spirituality Through Taste, Aroma, and Art with Rabbi Feivel

Embark on a unique exploration of Jewish spirituality as we delve into the rich interplay between sensory experiences and spiritual practice. This course, "Sacred Sensations," invites participants to discover the deeper meanings behind everyday pleasures and artistic expressions within the Jewish tradition. Through three engaging modules, we will explore how chocolate, coffee, and the arts are not only enjoyable but also deeply spiritual.

June 17th at 3:00 p.m.

The Spirituality of Chocolate: Explore the history of chocolate in the Jewish diaspora, its ceremonial uses, and how indulging in this sweet treat can be a moment of mindfulness and joy, reflecting on the sweetness of life as described in Jewish teachings.

July 15th at 3:00 p.m.

"Brewing Traditions: The Journey of Coffee in Jewish Culture and Spirituality"

August 26th at 3:00 p.m.

The Sacred in the Arts: Investigate the spiritual dimensions found in music, painting, and literature within Jewish tradition, exploring how these arts connect us to the divine and enrich our spiritual lives.

SUMMER MINDFULNESS MEDITATION SERIES

June 6, July 11, August 1 at 1:00 p.m.

Mindfulness is a mild calming state that is achieved by focusing one's awareness on the present moment, also known as the "right now." During this state we acknowledge and accept our feelings and thoughts related to the present moment while withholding thoughts and feelings about the past or the future.

To be mindful is to learn how to fully appreciate life's little pleasures in the present moment. Our most precious moments, in the now, often pass by unnoticed when the mind is distracted by focusing on the future or ruminating about the past.

Research suggests that mindfulness can lower stress levels, blood pressure, improve the quality of your sleep and so much more.

Registration is required and class size is limited – contact Randi at randi@gotj.org. or 561-624-4633.

Mazel Tov!

Ryder Rosenthal, son of Hallie and Jed Rosenthal, will become a Bar Mitzvah on Saturday, June 8th.

Ryder is in the 7th grade at Palm Beach Day Academy and plays travel soccer for the Palm Beach Predators. Outside of school and soccer, Ryder enjoys playing basketball, flag football and golf as well as spending time with his family and friends. Ryder loves his summers at his sleepaway camp in the Berkshires, where he excels in sports and cherishes his friendships. Ryder is a big sports fan and roots for the Michigan Wolverines, the Miami Dolphins and the Florida Panthers. In his free time, he likes to play video games with his friends.

Thank you to our Oneg Sponsors!

Family History of Smiles

Family influences where we go in life. It's no surprise Dr. Lee R. Cohen became a renowned periodontist and dental implant surgeon. Both of his grandfathers were dentists.

Periodontal Specialist & Dental Implant Surgeon

Choosing the right surgeon for dental implants or gum treatment is a big decision. You want to be cared for like family, and you want a specialist with impeccable credentials.

That's where Dr. Lee R. Cohen comes in. He's known for his warm, friendly approach.

Clear communication and a focus on your comfort are part of the care experience.

Dr. Lee R. Cohen is a dual board certified in Periodontology and Oral Implantology.

- Past President, Florida Association Periodontists
- Trustee, Florida Dental Association
- Fellow, International College of Dentists
- Delegate, American Dental Association
- NYU Doctor of Dental Surgery and Master of Public Health Policy
- University of Florida Master of Periodontology and Chief Resident, Shands Hospital
- Emory University Bachelor of Biology

We Care A Lot

Caring for you is our calling. That's why every visit begins with a conversation about you.

- Together we review your health history
- Discuss goals for you looks and health
- Make a plan that meets your needs

We're here to help you get healthy and stay well so you can enjoy life.
