Rabbi Feivel Strauss
Rabbi Rose Durbin
Cantor Abbie Strauss

According to a popular Talmudic tale, a stranger once approached Hillel and Shammai, the great sages of the first century, with a request: "Teach me the Torah while I stand on one foot." First, he brought the request to Shammai. According to the Talmud, Shammai picked up a builder's rule, smacked him alongside his head and dismissed him. So, he came to Hillel. "Teach me the Torah on one foot." Hillel taught him: "That which is hateful to you, do not do to your fellow. That is the whole Torah, all the rest is commentary. Zil u'gemar, now, go and learn."

This year we are so excited to welcome over 100 children to our religious school. Each year we select one theme that pervades the year, and along with the Jewish holidays, is taught to all the children – regardless of their age. This year our theme is TORAH.

Not only will our youngsters learn about our matriarchs and patriarchs, as well as some of the Torah's most significant teachings, but the children and their families will get to see a Torah come to life as we write a new Sofer Torah for the temple.

We believe the idea of Torah truly is L'Dor Va Dor – from generation to generation. For us to pass on our values, traditions, and lessons to the next generation. As such, we are calling this year's Torah project "Inscribing Their Future – Letter by Letter.

We hope you will commit to being a part of it! Sign up TODAY for your personal session with our clergy and scribe.

Each session will be approximately 30 minutes long. We ask that you find a time to come as a household – and if you are blessed to be one of our multi-generational families – please come with your children and/or grandchildren!

To sign up -simply go to:

<https://calendly.com/temple-judea/torah-writing>

We can't wait to see you and to complete this mitzvah of writing a Torah.

Join me....study about our biblical Heroines!

This month, as we officially kick off our awesome Year of Torah initiative, I'm excited to begin teaching a monthly series called "Women in the Torah." I've been asking questions about the inner lives of biblical women ever since I sat in religious school as a young girl and learned about sisters Rachel and Leah... both marrying their cousin Jacob. I remember thinking to myself, "What the heck were they thinking?!" - a question that remains with me to this day. Frustratingly, the biblical narrative is very sparse on details of women's thoughts, desires, or motivations, and so today we rely on feminist midrash to help us better connect with our biblical mothers. Feminist midrash is the retellings of biblical stories to incorporate women's viewpoints into the traditional texts of Judaism. In writing these texts, authors like Anita Diamant and many others have made Judaism more inclusive of the voices and perspectives of all people who engage in its teachings. These important viewpoints and new perspectives on our matriarchs are valuable to all of us to learn from, not only women. Just as we want to spread a message of fighting antisemitism beyond the Jewish people for it to be truly effective and meaningful, so too should men engage with feminist studies to truly make our community more empathetic and inclusive. Studying women in our sacred texts will help every member of our community better understand and relate to the societal pressures that not only our matriarchs, but also women today, continue to experience every day.

I presented the first part of my presentation on "King David's Divas" to our Sisterhood in August, where we learned about Michal's significant political influence on the Davidic dynasty. During our upcoming class in October, we will focus on David's two other named "Divas," Abigail and Bathsheba, whose actions also greatly impacted the destiny of the Jewish people. Bathsheba was much more than just a woman who enjoyed public bathing, and both of their stories will inspire all people to find their unique path toward leadership and meaningful influence. Like the ultimate founding member of the "First Wives' Club," Michal, Bathsheba and Abigail use wit and strategy to speak truth to power, and to successfully impact the biblical course of events.

We can all, regardless of gender, learn how to improve our own communication and relationships and further connect with our Jewish tribe by studying these biblical heroes together.

With Ruach (enthusiasm) for our upcoming learning,

Rabbi Rose

News from the Executive Director

Dear TJ Family:

Worship times

We had initially planned on moving to late Shabbat worship in mid-October. However, we realized that this would present a problem with our annual Pet Shabbat worship which is outdoors in our parking lot. Accordingly, we will keep our Shabbat worship at 5:30 p.m. pre-oneg and 6:00 p.m. worship for the entire month of October and then move to our late worship at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, November 3rd followed by our dessert oneg.

Get ready!

On Sunday, October 15th we are kicking off our year of Torah with our youngest YEP student and their family writing the first letter in our new Torah dedicated by Earl Abramson and Sheila Schlaggar.

We will be offering twelve, eight-hour days of Torah writing throughout this fiscal year. Each household is invited and encouraged to sign up for a thirty-minute time slot to participate in the 613th commandment. Please see the information in this edition of the Voice to sign up!

Want to hit the road?

We are offering two amazing, and special, trips to Israel!

Israel with Rabbi Yaron – March 16-March 28 – Hidden Secrets The perfect trip for anyone who has been to Israel and wants to see it through new eyes, new experiences, and new places! A unique itinerary with spa accommodations and a very limited group of travelers!

Israel with Rabbi Feivel– June 2-June 13 – Family Trip to Israel...A trip geared toward families with children and an opportunity to celebrate a Bar/Bat Mitzvah in Israel.

Questions? Call me at 561-624-4633 or morli@gotj.org.

Best Wishes for a good year filled with health, joy, and fulfillment.

Respectfully,

Morli

Morli Josza

L'Chaim He - a Taste of Torah

Mondays at 5:00 p.m. in person at Temple Judea

October 16, November 27, December 18, January 22, February 12, March 11, April 15

Together Torah, Nevi'im (Prophets) and Ketuvim (Writings) comprise what is known as the Tanach. This name for the Hebrew Bible is actually made up of the first letter of each of the three sections of the Bible.

T: for Torah

N: for Nevi'im

Ch: for Ketuvim

The Torah is made up of the first five books of the Hebrew Bible. Sometimes these are referred to as the Five Books of Moses. It may also be called the Chumash, which comes from the word five. The five books are:

Genesis. In Hebrew, B'reishit. This book recounts the story of creation and the lives of the patriarchs and matriarchs of the Jewish people.

October 16

Exodus. In Hebrew, Sh'mot. This book details the story of slavery in Egypt, the Exodus, and the Ten Commandments. November 27

Leviticus. In Hebrew, Vayikra. The third book of the Torah details the role of the priests and sacrifices in ancient Jewish practice. Leviticus includes many of the ethical and ritual laws that are still practiced today. December 18

Numbers. In Hebrew, B'midbar. This book recounts the wandering of the ancient Israelites through the desert and spells out more of God's laws. January 22

Deuteronomy. In Hebrew, Devarim. Moses, in his speeches to the Children of Israel offers them an ethical will, beseeching them to follow God's ways as they prepare to enter the Promised Land. February 12

Prophets – March 11

Ketuvim – April 15

Mazel Tov!

Mazel Tov to Rachel and Jeremy Berg on their daughter, Blake, becoming a Bat Mitzvah on Saturday, October 14th.

Blake Berg is an 8th grader at Meyer Preparatory. Outside of school, Blake is an avid photographer and a Cadet Airman First Class in the Civil Air Patrol, an auxiliary of the United States Air Force. She loves cars -- namely fast ones -- often spending time at local car shows. Her heart is in the Berkshire Mountains each summer at Camp Watitoh, where she has been a camper since the age of 6. Blake is honored to become a Bat Mitzvah at Temple Judea, where she will be surrounded by her parents, brother, four grandparents, extended family and friends.

Mazel Tov to Beth and Tom Stevens on their daughter, Samantha, becoming a Bat Mitzvah on Saturday, October 21st.

Samantha is in 7th grade and a theatre major at BAK Middle School of the Arts. Samantha is a dancer at Char Mar School of Dance. She had been dancing since she was 4 years old, and this is her 3rd year on the Performance Team. She enjoys listening to Taylor Swift music, having fun with her sister and friends, and community service. She likes making sandwiches for Temple Judea and as a mitzvah project will be collecting gently used towels and blankets for a local animal shelter.

Mazel Tov to Samantha and Lawrence Aronowitz on their son, Cameron, becoming a Bar Mitzvah on October 28th.

Cameron is a 7th grader at Duncan Middle School where he excels as a saxophonist in the jazz and concert band. When he is not in school, he is either playing soccer, fishing in any and every, body of water or playing with his dogs Lilly and Coco. Cameron has the biggest heart and silliest yet sweetest personality and an Endless love for all living creatures. We couldn't be prouder of Cam as he becomes a Bar Mitzvah.

Temple Judea is most grateful to our High Holy Day sponsors.
